

Welcome

Company Overview

"Thank you for your interest in Entré Technology Group. We have been delivering OEM computer solutions to the corporate marketplace since 1984.

At Entré we understand computers are a critical component of the business landscape. They can be used to process information, calculate results, automate processes, and a host of other tasks.

However, there are some things computers cannot do. They cannot show an interest in your success. They cannot ship product to you in urgent situations. And they cannot partner with you to deliver solutions to your marketplace.

Certain tasks require the good, old-fashioned hard work of dedicated professionals who are committed to providing your company with solutions that make your organization more responsive, more profitable, and more competitive.

At Entré Technology Group we recognize the usefulness and power of technology solutions in the business environment. We also recognize the importance of our people in delivering these solutions.

Entré Technology Group, we are the people behind the technology."
